What I mean is how do i get the instance of Order to work in the function in the second class inside my_function. If I try Order. A: Like this? @decorator("selected_order_id", Order) class BClass(object): def __init__(self, order): self.order = order @classmethod def my_function(cls, order): class: if "SELECTED_ORDER_ID" in order.__dict__: return order.__dict__["SELECTED_ORDER_ID"] return True All classes that are not defined as your decorator (in this case BClass) will inherit this function from the class you defined the function in. Then you can use it like this: a = AClass() b = BClass() print a.my_function(b) # True print b.my_function(a) # False print a.my_function() # None But notice that this function
