You can also choose between two different saving formats: one for single attachments, the other for multi-file attachments (if the latter is selected, a filter for the type of file is created automatically). PDF Attachment Filters If you'd like to export to PDF only specific types of attachments, a custom filter can be used. As you see, some options are not available for all files, and this is because: The exporting process begins after you've selected a starting point. The destination folder is determined based on the path of the file, thus if the file is saved in the "c:\docs\data" folder, the files will be saved to "c:\docs\data\file.txt". When you select a PDF saving format, you can choose the output path for the file. After you save the "Save As PDF 2022 Crack" window to your desktop, you can now double-click it to launch the application, and you can choose the email items to be saved as PDF files from the top-right menu, or you can simply press the "Open" button: The saving progress is shown in the toolbar of the program window: PDF Options A few options are available to modify the output: You can choose to include or exclude the e-mails' HTML content. You can modify the output PDF formatting, and you can also enable some other features: Automatic page break You can choose whether the e-mail items are placed on one page or on multiple pages. Separate each page with an empty page You can choose whether the PDF files have a new page each time a new item is exported. Display a watermark You can choose to display a watermark on the new PDF document, specifying the background color. You can choose the watermark text color. You can choose the font style. You can choose the font size. You can specify the font type. You can specify the font name. You can specify the watermark transparency. You can choose the text alignment. Automatically save PDF as a file You can choose whether the PDF files are saved directly in the desired folder. You can specify the location of the exported folder.
