Tip You can also adjust any object or layer properties by right-clicking it in the Layers panel and choosing from a few options. For example, if you click the Lock/Unlock icon, you'll be able to unlock, lock, or even change the fill color of a layer. Figure 12-8. In Photoshop, image adjustments can be made with feature layers you can add to your image. These are similar to ImageReady's Adjustment layers. Click the Adjustment Layers button at the top left of the Layers panel to open a thumbnail list of all your adjustment layers. Click a thumbnail to toggle between the thumbnail preview and the Layers panel. When you make an adjustment layer, it appears as a separate layer in the Layers panel with a yellow background; its thumbnail shows how it will appear when you click it to apply the edit (see Figure 12-9 in a yellow highlight \the same color as the background of the layer\"). You can click the Adjustments button at the top left of the Layers panel to add adjustment layers to your image. You can make multiple adjustment layers and switch among them with a simple click. You can also make adjustments to only a part of an image. You can hide adjustments for the rest of the image (and the parts that you don't want to change) by setting the visibility of the adjustment layer to 0%. (You can find out more about layer visibility in the box on Styling your Palette.") The Layers panel is also your best friend when you're trying to decide what to edit and what to leave alone. You can easily switch

Adobe's Photoshop Elements is the perfect way for anyone to edit pictures, even people who are new to the software. However, despite Photoshop being around for quite some time, Photoshop Elements seems to still be the better choice for many people, especially if you are more interested in creating rather than working on existing images. Like Photoshop, Photoshop Elements is not free to download. However, if you have a subscription to Adobe Creative Cloud, you can download Photoshop Elements for free for 2 years. This post will cover the basic functions of Photoshop Elements and show you how you can use it to edit images and create high-quality images. Features of Photoshop Elements vs Photoshop Both Photoshop and Photoshop Elements are powerful graphics editors and are very good at manipulating images. But there is a significant difference between the two: Photoshop is a professional edition designed for working with high-quality images and using advanced features. Photoshop Elements is an entry level program designed for hobbyists and amateurs who do not need the extra functionality of Photoshop. Steps to learn the basics of Photoshop Elements There are many things that can be confusing at first when you start using Photoshop Elements. Don't be disheartened as you can learn the software and have fun at the same time. Here is a detailed guide on how to get started: 1. Open an image First of all, it is crucial to open an image before you start any editing. It will get you familiar with the software, so that you can easily edit your next image. 2. Grab the tool you want All the tools that are available in Photoshop Elements are also available in Photoshop. All the tools can be found in the tool palette on the right side of your screen. 3. Select the tool When you have selected the tool, the tool options should appear on the left of your screen. You can change the tool options to the ones you prefer such as the brush. 4. Select the brush To select the brush, click the scroll wheel on your mouse and click on the brush tool. This will open the brush tool options as well as make the brush icon appear. 5. Choose brush size From the brush tool options, you can choose the brush size and create a brush with a more appropriate size. This will also let you select a brush with the most accurate size. You can change the brush size by clicking a681f4349e

Q: MySQL insert record on server every 5 minutes I need to insert a new record in the database every 5 minutes automatically. Is it possible? I use PHP and MySQL Thanks A: Here's a function that checks for new records every 5 minutes and will execute and insert them:

function insertNewRecords() {
    $now = time(); $newRecords = array(); $sql = 'SELECT * FROM SOME_TABLE'; $res = mysql_query($sql); while($row = mysql_fetch_assoc($res)) { $newRecords[] = $row; } mysql_query("INSERT INTO SOME_TABLE VALUES ('".$now."','".$newRecords "')"); die('Inserted '.count($newRecords).' New Records'); } if (isset($_REQUEST['insert'])) { insertNewRecords(); die('New Records inserted.'); } In the world of politically correct speech, it's a safe bet that if you can say something offensive enough, chances are you can say it in a way that won't get you hauled off to jail. A recent case in Boston, Massachusetts was a case in point. "This was a definitely a case of Orwellian doublethink," said one observer, who called it "kind of fun to watch" but added that everyone involved "had it coming." Members of the Boston Anarchist Black Cross Collective — known as the AAC — had set up a float in the city's Fourth of July parade displaying a sign reading "F---t—Racist!" Their float was defaced by racist marchers who painted over the sign with "I'm not a racist, I have 4 n---s in my family" and "I love black people" in place of the original message. But while the ACLU pointed out in a lawsuit that anyone caught covering up racist graffiti could be charged with vandalizing property, the group was only asking for $5 million in damages. Boston Mayor Marty Walsh refused to take the action the

Q: How to make an h-m-l or h-m-l with nextstack? I am trying to make a header/body/footer with nextstack, that has to be responsive. I want to use css3-grid like so:

.test { display: flex; align-items: center; justify-content: space-between; } .body { display: flex; align-items: center; justify-content: center; } .footer { display: flex; align-items: center; justify-content: space-between; } @media (min-width: 700px) { .body { align-self: flex-start; } .footer { justify-self: flex-end; } } This is the body This is the footer _0 \sin\theta_0\rho_0-1} \quad {\rm and}
