Others say it's the most lovable. I think it depends on what sort of dragon you're dealing with. In any case, it sure is a beautiful creature. One thing is for certain: It's got a terrible sense of direction. And no, I won't be your personal guide. I'm stuck here in this old cave, with plenty to eat and drink. The only people who come this far are monks in search of hermits, and they are all long dead. I, meanwhile, have just finished off some wild boar, and am now building myself a nice fire in this cozy little place. So, if you want some dragon hugs, go find one, and ask nicely. The name of this entry is a huge mistake on my part. In the Dragonkingland, we dragons are worshipped as gods. But if you want to thank me for helping you reach my cave, and all the fruits and meats I offered you, the customary expression is "That's a fine dragon. May you live long and happy." Also, the bass guitar riff is the exact same one in the opening scene of the movie! A true gift! :) *One of my favorite songs on this album! One of the first very early songs I wrote. *Numerous guitar solos. *Lots of new material, new arrangements. *Best to hear this live! Please support the band live! *Many rhythms notated in this song. *Made a compilation of "FANTASY LAYERS" for the EUROPEAN website which includes this song. *Special thanks to: -BardianToxa for his knowledge and expertise on matters of software. -Jimmy Kopley for his huge help and inspiration on the DVD itself! -Ken Adams for inspiring me to write this song. :) -Wahoo for his willingness to help. -Jarrod and his family for their great hospitality. -The crew in Switzerland, and their great friendship. -Jim D. for his interviews and putting together of this project. *Special thanks to: -NORMAN BLAKE for his music and friendship. -Wu Tang

Clan for the wonderful and wonderful music! -I am grateful for many great artists such as: Kenneth Anger, Edgar Froese, Mike Dyson, Mike Patton, and Peter Gabriel. :) All of these artists were an inspiration. (I was most flattered by the fact that Kenneth Anger left his name on the song of which this is a part!) This song was written with many of my favorite artists as the main
