After compiling and running, I got this log: Aborted Can't access file "...mupen64plus-bin.dll" Can't access file "...mupen64plus-bin.dll" That last "message" isn't error. It just says that the "Can't access...whatever" message. I don't know why it would be having troubles loading this file and that has me looking through online looking for any possible solution, but all I've been able to find is a bug in the iPhone SDK. If anyone has faced this problem, I'd love to find the solution, and if your solution is a lot more complex than it is here, I'd love to know how you fixed it. A: Do something like this. Ugly but works. Xcode 4.1+: From your project navigator tree, select Run and then . 3.2 - 4.0: Select your project bundle. From the Window menu, select Device, which will open up a pane that looks like this: In xcode 3.2 - 3.1, this is the (Combo) Device menu, where the arrow is pointing to in this photo: In xcode 3.1 - 3.0, the menu didn't have a Device option and looked different: this is how it would look like in xcode 3.0: If your app is not getting ready to run on the simulator, or if you want to start up simulator at another iOS device, then you'll need to hold down the Option button on the keyboard and launch simulator from the (Window) menu. Other tools: 1) SimArchive I use this file with my test apps all the time, it's a command line app that lists all the build information and all the binaries and resources for all the iOS Simulator applications. It's fairly complete. 2) SimPilot I used it years ago, but don't know what is state of the app now. It

Description You are a pixelated little introvert, trapped in an enormous world. Life is not easy, since space and time are the only things you know, yet you can't work out where they end, and you can't figure out how to go forwards or backwards. You just have to wander from place to place, until you find out what's what... Set in an infinite, pixelated landscape, Big Picture is a slow, simple, puzzle game about life and anxiety. It's about the uncertainty of the present and future, and how we deal with the constant flow of time. Time and time again, you have to ask yourself: 'When is the next? When will this be finished?' Is it the end of the world as we know it? Do I live or die? Do I love or hate? Big Picture has a deep narrative, shaped by the characters you meet and the relationships you build. It is also a game about ourselves - our vulnerability and fears - and our mortality. Just like the light at the end of the tunnel, in Big Picture we are lost, and we have been lost for years. So, as we try to figure out the world, we have built one ourselves. Risks There are no sets goals for this project. We will gather your ideas, but your game should be in no way set in stone. However, if you're looking for a relatively safe way to pitch your ideas, you've come to the right place. I'm willing to learn about your ideas, but don't expect me to take them for granted. I will happily ask you questions about your idea, and discuss potential issues with you. If I find an issue that I don't feel comfortable working around, I will let you know. There will be no short cuts. It's important that we respect each other and keep an open mind. The most important thing about this Kickstarter campaign is that it's a dialogue - an honest, transparent one. We can learn so much from each other. Rewards Foam Sword Our Latest Sticker Design At this time we will start taking physical and digital versions of our various stickers. If you would like to receive something different, we can do that, but we will be concentrating on the big items first. We also have lots of older designs that we c9d1549cdd

Game "Alien Life Lab" Download: 2 Game Modes: Single player mode - having fun Multiplayer mode - competing and trying to become the best, like you always wanted Strategy: At the beginning of the game you just have to make it to the end. Level after level. On your way you will collect powerups and random stuff along the way. No base building, no fortresses. Want to share your achievements on the global leaderboard. Share your best scores with the community. Attention: If you did not have access to the internet in a not too early game, you have to write a letter to the aliens and convince them to allow internet access on your planet. If they agree, you will gain access to the servers, where you can play online with other players. This game is a cooperation with two other communites: - online community who updates the game with awesome content and better gameplay. - community, who develops some extra content for the game. What's new in Into Blue Valley - Official Soundtrack:

Purrs, claws and slinkers. It's time for Cat-astrophe! Boost your party antics by adding the Pack to your Schwarzerblitz deck. Get yourself a new set of cat cards, paw printed!. These cards allow you to add a cat to your build and its special abilities to your card. It's so catty-awesome. When we first offered Schwarzerblitz, the set had cat themed cards in it. However, the cat-themed cards were not playable in a competitive environment. In order to allow you to play cat-themed cards in a deck, this new pack adds new elements to the game to the cat theme. This is the Pack. Have fun and make your catty deck. In the Deck, there are five new cards, although some of them are basic cards whose powers are all triggered when you play them with a cat in hand, so they are just a core part of the gameplay. Cat Catamorphosis At the beginning of each player's first turn, they must change a non-Basic playing card into a Basic playing card. The card cannot be a Cat. In order to achieve this effect, a Cat must be in your hand. This card is non-basic and has a custom cost of 'change to basic'. When it is played in a setup, it does not count as the basic version of that card and it must be played again to actually get its power. All the powers are triggered when the player plays the card as a basic. Since this card is a non-basic, it does not have the power to 'put a cat in play', but it does get you a cat in your hand. Cats always cost 1 in play when activated (there is no special cost), so if you found yourself open to triggering a power, it's very likely that a cat in your hand could target it. This could be a 「Claws」, 「Paw」 or other power that lets you play two cards. It could also be 「The Click」. Cataclysmic Rescue You can play this special card during any 3 card setup. If you play this card, you then switch a Basic in your hand into a non-Basic card in your deck and put a cat into play. This card has a custom cost of '1 to play another

"Teaching You to Go Fast and Break Things" Teach your troops to run along greenways, jump hills and roll down steep slopes. Equip your units with a variety of weapons, from machine guns to rocket launchers to high explosive bombs. When you've perfected your units skills and tactics, play against online players in Ranked matches. Historical Accuracy Battle of Normandy showcases a number of unique and accurate units available for use in the game. Use these units to simulate the battles that made history. Fight through the campaigns in Operation Pointblank, Operation Market Garden or Saint-Lô to experience the fierce combat with units like the Crusader tank, M3 "Bumper" Sherman and the Polish infantry tank "PzKpfw IV". Independence Day You play as the US President of the United States. In the summer of 1963, you learned that your country was being attacked by extraterrestrials from Mars. To save your nation, you were given a high-powered rocket launcher. War is a brutal, bloody and often ridiculous thing. Most of us want to live through our days without a scratch, and usually, we can. Unless, of course, we get in a plane, an office, a car, a skyscraper or some other tall building. Here are 40 things that will probably kill you before you get to the top. Now you really need to pay attention. These are the deadliest killers in the world... and they're all waiting for you. Top 40 Things That Will Probably Kill You Get some Jägermeister and watch as we walk through the top 40 things you should absolutely not eat, drink, smoke or put in your body. 1. Chocolate Chocolate is delicious, and it's also a pretty quick killer. A study published in 2009 determined that chocolate may be, in fact, a little dangerous to those who eat a lot of it. In the Netherlands, the risk of developing problems related to high chocolate consumption is about twice as high as in people who eat little chocolate. Although you may feel better after you've eaten chocolate, it can, in fact, make you feel worse. Chocolate contains no less than 16 different chemicals including theophylline, anophylline, caffeine, theobromine, a dipyridylium compound, and, of course, cocoa. These chemicals may cause your blood pressure to spike and your heart rate to increase. 2. Afternoon Tea Ch
