Interactive Key Concepts Think of Photoshop as a compound command-line system with very many features, each with a set of keyboard shortcuts. The following sections focus on the key concepts that make up the Photoshop system. Basic image manipulation Photoshop provides basic image-manipulation tools such as image resizing, cropping, filtering, and retouching. The Selection and Layers tools (the 3 circles in the left-side margin) enable you to manipulate an image. To create a selection, drag the mouse over the image and then release to define the areas to be selected. The Layers panel displays a thumbnail image and can be expanded to reveal all layers in the image. Select a layer and the interface displays a palette, which can be expanded or collapsed to change view modes. The options for changing the Layer, Filter, and Adjustment settings are displayed in the interface window. The following steps demonstrate how to use the Selection and Layers tools and the various adjustments in Photoshop CS5: Step 1: Select a Figure from the Web Select one of the stock images available from the Photoshop Magazine website (www.photoshop.com). Step 2: From the Layers Panel Double-click the table image in the Layers panel to load it as a selection. Step 3: Make a Selection Drag the mouse over the area of the table you want to select. Step 4: Make a Selection Once the selection is complete, the Layers panel will show a thumbnail of the image and a blue outline of the selection you've made. Step 5: Resize the Image Drag the width and height resizing handles until the size of the image is the same as the height and width of the table. More than 30 Conservatives have now said they will not be voting for Theresa May at the next general election, including former Cabinet ministers Nicky Morgan and David Gauke, for the first time in post-war British politics. The most senior Conservative MP to declare he will not be voting for Mrs May is former cabinet minister Damian Green, who resigned as first secretary of state for the cabinet office in September following the exposure of a number of sexually inappropriate emails between him and the journalist who is now his wife. Mr Green told The Telegraph he has already registered as a “supporter” of the party leadership challenger, Jeremy Hunt, and will announce his intention to vote for him when he adds his name to the register in the new year.
