I have a function to show a message when an error occurs, but sometimes this function returns two different messages on the same error, I know that because of the way I create the control, but I don't know how to solve this issue. The code that I show bellow is called after the event with the error (sending an email):

public void Error(Exception e) { try { XlMail.Send("Reciba la información: " + e.ToString()); } catch (Exception ex) { XlMail.Send("El mensaje fue interceptado:" + ex.ToString()); } MessageBox.Show(e.ToString(), "Error"); }

And the problem is that when the exception is not handled, the MessageBox.Show is shown two times with the first information and the second saying that the exception was intercepted. I don't know how to solve this problem
