AutoLISP (Automatic Lisp Interface to AutoCAD) AutoLISP (Automatic Lisp Interface to AutoCAD) is a proprietary API for controlling AutoCAD on Macintosh computers, designed by Autodesk. AutoLISP is also available on Windows. AutoLISP is a programming language that is native to AutoCAD. Programming in AutoLISP was made possible in AutoCAD 2000. AutoLISP, unlike Visual LISP, is not a scripting language, but a programming language. AutoLISP is used for extensive customization of AutoCAD, allowing users to create macros, fill forms, run functions, and create and modify drawings on an object by object basis. AutoLISP is also used for writing code to run programs that assist in the creation of AutoCAD drawings. AutoLISP is used in the field of prototyping and manufacturing, and can be used to write macros that control the behavior of a group of drawing objects or whole drawings. It is also useful for large-scale data analysis, such as analysis of paper-and-pencil drawing portfolios by drawing clerks. In AutoCAD 2007, AutoLISP is not only used for customization but can also be used to control drawing objects and windows. AutoLISP was introduced to the public for the first time at the Autodesk University 2006 in San Francisco and the first version was released in November 2006. AutoLISP is built on top of a COM API, and thus can be used by other third-party software, including AutoCAD. AutoLISP provides programming language constructs such as if, switch, repeat-until, do-while, and define. Visual LISP Visual LISP (Visual LISP for AutoCAD) is an open source API for controlling AutoCAD on Microsoft Windows. In 2008, Autodesk released an open-source compiler and editor, Visual LISP in Action, as a prequel to their release of the official Visual LISP (Visual Lisp) IDE. Visual LISP is the same as Visual LISP in Action, just with an official Autodesk logo on the main window. Visual LISP is written in Visual Basic and requires Microsoft Visual Studio. Visual LISP was introduced to the public at the Autodesk University 2007 in Anaheim. Like AutoLISP, Visual ca3bfb1094
